COL. OUSLEY ASKS
SOME QUESTIONS.

Wants to Know Why the Paper of Farmers is Discriminated Against.

To the Editor:

Six-months commercial paper was selling in New York last week at 2 3/4 per cent. Five hundred million European war bonds have been sold at 5 per cent. The New York Times of November 10th says: "The case of borrowing rates for mercantile credit is made of further interest to financial circles because of the pending loans to the allied countries, which are expected to take the form of acceptances. These loans will make an inroad upon the resources of the banks, the extent of which has not been determined, and yet money rates show a declining tendency rather than an indication of growing firms."

On the other hand, I have a farmer friend who cannot borrow money from his local banks for less than 20 per cent, though he offers 25 head of cattle and 5 head of mules (all his legal exemption) as security for a twelve-months loan of $1,000. Also, he has three vendors' lien notes in the gross amount of $395, on a piece of land which he sold for $700, and he cannot discount them at 8 per cent.

What I want to know is why a small but solvent and successful Texas farmer's paper cannot be sold at less than 20 per cent when a Texas merchant's paper can be sold at 2 3/4, and why Texas land notes cannot be sold at 8 per cent when European war bonds can be sold at 5 per cent.

I know some of the reasons, but I am putting these questions to Texas people in the hope of stimulating their thinking about a very grave problem which must be solved in the near future if we are not stupidly to invite a dangerous upheaval.

The Bryan & Cen. Tex. Interurban brought in a train load of cotton yesterday from the E. H. Astin plantation in the Brazos bottom. There were 20 car loads, or 544 bales, which gives the Interurban a grand total of 6,332 bales of cotton handled over the road this season. The cotton has not yet been sold.

Thousands of "Bucks" Won and Lost
Last Night in the Elks' Big Fun Show.

There were hundreds of "bucks" won and lost on gambling devices last night in Slippery Gulch, which is being staged by the Bryan Elks on the carnival grounds, located in the old power plant. Everyone seemed to be there; in fact, it seemed as though it was some big society function, as all of the "400" were out and enjoyed the big western pioneer village "stunt" with all of the abandon of old timers. Never has gambling flourished in Bryan as it did last night and the women played the games of chance as well as the men. One lady caught the spirit of the occasion so well and became so excited that she bet 65,000 "bucks" that she could seven or eleven, but to cap the climax, she "threw" two aces, which is commonly called "traps." Many of the more experienced "shooters" did much better; in fact, one man won over 100,000 "bucks" and then beat it to the general store, and the way he started to purchase groceries, one would think he was going to start in the grocery business for himself. The store did a whooping business last night, and it was a common sight to see patrons of the Gulch leave with their arms filled with groceries and hams. The Elks believe in satisfying their patrons, and at their store here one may purchase goods with their winnings, is a very complete and most modern establishment.

It is safe to estimate that fully a thousand persons went to the Gulch last night and it is also a safe assertion that everyone got their money's worth. Everybody enjoyed themselves and it was necessary to actually drive them away from the store and games late in the evening—they simply didn't want to go home.

The finance committee reported that their gross receipts were way above their expectations, and if business continues like it started, they will have the pleasure of reporting to the lodge that they had wiped out the indebtedness that is hanging over their heads.

The sheriff and his deputies were on their job and made numerous arrests during the evening. Two well known ladies of the city were discovered "jockeying" the race horse game, and were placed in the lock-up, where they remained until the fines imposed by Judge Maloney were paid.

The gaming was of most interest to the crowds, but Calamity Jane's dance hall and One-Eyed Mike's bar and restaurant were well patronized.

Slippery Gulch will be open all week, and no doubt the crowds will increase from night, for, just as is advertised, there is fun, fun; nothing but fun.
